

Portable Water Flow Unit by Clayton Nolte

This Portable Unit by Natural Action Technologies is designed to be used directly from your faucet or water pitcher. No filters required, no electricity, no maintenance water technology that uses ancient geometry to energize and awaken the water molecule at the cellular basis – like a mountain stream.

To use, place a water bottle or container underneath the pointed spout end of this unit. (If your container doesn't set firmly under the Water Flow Unit, you will have to hold it above, as in the picture below).

To Use: Place the funnel end under the faucet or from a bottled water source.

For the greatest benefit, allow your water faucet to run a few seconds to establish a flowing motion first, then slip your Water Flow Unit under the running water with your container underneath.

As the water is flowing, this is a good opportunity to give thanks for your water source, gratitude and set some positive intentions for this natural support of flow in your body & your life.

The challenge can be holding the Water Flow Unit at the same time as balancing your water source or end-use container. If you are filling several containers, its best to have them readily available. As you finish filling your containers, there will still be some dripping from inside the Water Flow Unit. Allow it to dry in any position. Avoid exposing your water unit to the sun or freezing temperatures for an extended period of time, it can become brittle. Feel free to ask us for suggestions for using structured water to help balance and support our pipes, pets, plants, vehicles, etc...

This is a “water conditioning system” flow-form - where the water flows around and through geometrically-placed balls, waking it up, in a sense. This vortex activity has been shown to improve the energy & vitality of the water molecule. The end result is a structured, coherent, oxygen-enriched & balanced life-force water molecule – which is closer to what our bodies were designed for. This gives water a lower surface tension with better hydrating properties. Contaminants are energetically wrapped inside the water molecule. (see BioPhotons of light & water). Updated science shows that the body absorbs & utilizes the outer part of the water molecule & sends the rest along on its way in the bodys elimination process. This encourages absorption & detoxification, following Natures cycle of energy flow. For the Portable Water Unit, there is 3 choices for color: white, blue or green (shown above).

We hope this adds to the healing & hydrating flow in your body and your life!

For more ideas, information, research, science and other product info, please visit ...

www.naturalactionwater.com

Ask us how you can use this device for breathing structured air too ... a 5 minute process.

Please call or email with any questions, comments or experiences. Thank you.

Air, Water & Wellness
www.airWaterAndwellness.com
503-524-4862